

Youth Harm Reduction Award Application

For projects completed in 2024

Awarded in June 2025

What are the application criteria?

- Nomination or self-application
- Youth must be under age 19 and live in any community in the Island Health region
- Applications accepted from mid-December 2024 to March 31, 2025
- Project completed during 2024

What types of projects are applicable?

- Any independently conceptualized, developed, and implemented project related to substance use and public health (e.g.: drug poisoning risk and safety)
- Any form of project that advances public health harm reduction related to the toxic drug crisis in a region, community, or local environment
- Project impact at the individual, community, or population level

How will projects be reviewed?

- Impact and meaning of the work, rather than the scale of the project
- Meaningful engagement with harm reduction
- Demonstrated importance of work to the local community
- Clear identification of the harm/risk of harm
- Clear identification of the actions taken within the project to reduce harm
- Clear engagement with, or involvement of, the project's target population
- Success of the project: demonstrated impact
- Major learnings related to the project
- Validated by referee
- Priority consideration will be given to work in Indigenous communities and/or to Indigenous-identifying applicants
